

Judy Dawson to speak at the DWF Travel Claims Conference

Judy Dawson will be guest speaker at the DWF Travel Claims Conference taking place in London on 25th October. Judy's background dealing with fraudulent claims arising from alleged road traffic accidents, accidents at work or public or occupier's liability has given her expertise which she is now utilising within our holiday sickness and travel fraud claims team. As the travel industry has started to face a deluge of such claims, the Park Square Barristers team, led by Richard Paige, is offering specialist training for industry leaders and their legal representatives. With the current loophole in the law meaning that holiday sickness claims are not subject to fixed recoverable costs, the successful defence of even relatively minor claims is important for the insurance industry as well as for the reputation of the businesses involved and even the image of British holiday-makers abroad. Judy Dawson commented "As with whiplash claims, where the wholesale and rampant abuse of the claims system has harmed the innocent Claimants whose claims are subject to more scrutiny and delay, fraudulent holiday claims impact on the innocent British holiday-makers with their reputation unfairly tarnished by the actions of a few.
